Portions of downtown roads will be closed on Saturday, May 5 during the Asheboro in Motion Criterium and Art May-Ham events, and some side streets will be completely inaccessible. Roads will be closed beginning at approximately 6 a.m. and should be re-opened shortly after 8 p.m. The affected roads are:

- North Fayetteville Street between Wainman Avenue and Salisbury Street
- Cox Street between Wainman Avenue and Salisbury Street
- Sunset Avenue between the railroad tracks and Fayetteville Street
- Worth Street between Fayetteville Street and Cox Street
- Scarboro Street – entire street closed and blocked
- Cranford Street – entire street closed and blocked
- East Academy Street between Fayetteville Street extending east of the Cox Street intersection
- North Street access to Sunset Avenue will be blocked
- Trade Street access to Fayetteville Street will be blocked

Both pedestrian and vehicular traffic will be allowed access to the Randolph County Board of Elections office at 158 Worth Street for One Stop early voting. Signage will direct motorists to travel to Worth Street from Salisbury Street via Cox Street. Between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. voters may be held at the intersection temporarily while cyclists are in the roadway. Voters may also park in the Asheboro Public Library lot, which will be accessible from Main St.

Voters wishing to go to the polls for early voting may also go to the Randolph County Office Building at 725 McDowell Road. Curbside voting for voters who have limited mobility or are handicap is available at both locations. For questions about voting, contact the Randolph County Board of Elections at 318-6900.

The Department of Public Works will be reaching out to residents of the blocked streets. If you have any questions about the planned road closures, please contact David Hutchins, Public Works Director, at 626-1234 ext. 2202.
